

Alternative Break Citizenship schools (ABCs)

the definitive leadership experience for campuses focused on student-driven alternative break programs

The Alternative Break Citizenship schools are week-long experiential training sessions that provide college student and staff leaders the knowledge, skills, and connections needed to start or strengthen a quality alternative break program.

The ABCs combine aspects of a national conference - through workshops, discussions, and planning sessions - with the education, reflection, and direct service of an alternative break. Throughout the week, participants engage in an experience focused on the best practices and details of organizing an alternative break.

The result – a dynamic experiential learning opportunity that encourages participants to synthesize knowledge and skills gained in workshops with inspiring and educational contact with local community leaders and students and staff from college campuses nationwide.

the ABCs offer nearly three decades of expertise in training for the design, implementation, and innovation of quality alternative break programs.

experience the intensity of a quality alternative break: think critically about your role in society, connect with other campus leaders and community members working toward social change through a life of active citizenship.

innovation

facilitate the development of new ideas in service-learning and community impact. build and adapt your program structure. share successes in curriculum-based alternative breaks, weekend breaks, and international breaks.

interaction

engage in strong direct service and reciprocal relationships between campus and community. the ABCs offer unparalleled opportunities to build strong and sustainable partnerships with community leaders from across the nation.

workshops

The ABCs are living training sessions. The interactive style enables Break Away facilitators to weave the experience and ideas of the student and staff attendees into the conference itself. The workshops participants attend throughout the week focus on various aspects of developing a strong alternative break program, in addition to moving forward innovations within the national movement.

Some of the topics discussed are community impact, strategic planning, fundraising, active citizenship, social justice, group development, conflict resolution, leadership and facilitation skills, orientation, education, training, reflection, and reorientation. Break Away staff strive to tailor each ABCs experience to meet the specific needs of the students and staff in attendance.

housing and meals

Break Away provides all housing and meals during the ABCs. True to the set up of an alternative break, participants are required to stay with their groups in the accommodations and actively participate in all activities throughout the week. Given our packed schedule, there will not be opportunities for individual exploration or sightseeing during the conference. If you'd like to extend your stay to explore all the host city has to offer, you'll need to make your own arrangements.

transportation

Participants are responsible for their own travel arrangements to and from the ABCs location (including transit to and from the airport before and after the conference). Prior to making travel arrangements, please visit the ABCs page of our website for more information regarding start/end times for the ABCs.

cancellation and refund policy

Partial refunds, subject to a minimum $100 cancellation fee, will be allowed for participants with a written cancellation request at least one month in advance of the ABCs they registered for. No refunds will be given for cancellations made within three weeks of the conference.
